Commerce Quarterly

Volume III, No. I

October 1985

I would like to congratulate our faculty members who have contributed to the current issue of the Quarterly and who have contributed to their respective fields of endeavour. The continued teaching, research and administrative efforts of our members have brought to this faculty deserved acclaim. We must continue to impact upon these avenues in keeping our vision alive. We are receiving these most positive accolades because we are transmitting our productivity, imagination, expertise and continued development to the business and academic communities. Bravo!

As we move along, I feel my messages should become somewhat shorter. Since a picture is perceived as being worth a thousand words, may I offer you 1,000 semantic units!

My best to all.

Quebec Judge Dismisses Student's Suit over Grades

A judge in Quebec City has ruled that a student at Laval University has no legal recourse in a dispute over his grades. In a precedent-setting decision, Judge Jacques Delisle of Quebec Superior Court told Raymond Malo that as long as the university had not acted arbitrarily or in bad faith, the court could not act in the case.

Judge Delisle criticized Mr. Malo for going to court and warned others against following the student's lead. "In a labor market where there is place only for competent people," said the judge, "the plaintiff would be better off rolling up his sleeves and agreeing to take exams like every other student rather than trying to get his marks by legal means."

When Mr. Malo failed a cultural-geography seminar in 1980 because of an "attitude incompatible with the university," he complained to various university bodies that he should be judged on his academic record, not his attitude.

Yes, there is a God above !!!

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

We would like to welcome the following new faculty members:

DEPARTMENT OF ACCOUNTANCY

Roger Collins, Assistant Professor

Roger Collins joined Concordia after spending a year teaching in Ohio and California. Prior to this he was Senior Lecturer, Accounting and Finance at the Middlesex Polytechnic - London, England. He holds a Bachelor's degree in Business Studies from the Hatfield Polytechnic, a Post-graduate Marketing Diploma and a Masters degree in Accounting from the London School of Economics. Before becoming an educator he worked in British industry for Electrolux U.K. and Fine Fare U.K. (a division of Associated British Foods), amongst others. His research interests concern the impact of technology on management accounting.

Peter Charlton, Sessional Lecturer

A graduate of Loyola in 1977 with a Bachelor of Commerce, Mr. Charlton went on to obtain his C.A. in 1980. Employed by Arthur Andersen for his first five years in Public Accounting, and then by Fuller Jenks Landau for the next four years, he has taught various courses in the accounting stream from intermediate accounting to corporate taxation on a part-time basis for the last four years.

DEPARTMENT OF FINANCE

Devinder K. Gandhi, Professor and Chairman

Dr. Dev. K. Gandhi, returns to us from the University of Ottawa. Dev. received his Ph.D. from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania and has since published extensively in the areas of corporate finance, public finance and taxation. He has also co-authored a popular Canadian textbook in managerial finance. Dev. is a Vice-President of ASAC and editor for the ASAC Bulletin. For the past two years he has led the SSHRC funded workshops which have received critical acclaim.

Jihad Nader, Assistant Professor

Jihad Nader is a Ph.D. candidate in Finance at the University of Toronto. For the past two years he has been teaching at Wilfrid Laurier University.

Peter Walker, Assistant Professor

Peter Walker comes to us from Memorial University where he has been teaching for the past five years. Prior to that he worked as a consultant to the Governments of Alberta and Newfoundland.

Claude Henin, Visiting Professor

Claude Henin is on sabbatical from the University of Ottawa. Dr. Henin obtained his Ph.D. from Carnegie-Mellon and has published widely in the areas of finance and management sciences.

Paul Leventhal, Sessional Lecturer

Paul Leventhal is an MBA graduate from Concordia and was Chairman of the Concordia University MBA Case Competition in 1984.

DEPARTMENT OF MANAGEMENT

Rosalind Knitter, Sessional Lecturer

Rosalind Knitter is a recent MBA graduate from Concordia. She spent a year teaching English in Korea for the Peace Corps and has also taught in the public school system in the United States.

Sara Levinson, Sessional Lecturer

Sara Levinson is an MBA Graduate from the University of Western Ontario. Not really new to Concordia, Sara has been with us before as a part-time instructor. Her wide range of interests and diverse background includes teaching classes dealing with writing blocks, writing term papers and general writing problems at the New School, Dawson College and working as a freelance communications consultant.

Willard Porterfield, Executive in Residence

Willard Porterfield brings his expertise in the field of International Banking to the Management Department. Mr. Porterfield has many years of experience in a wide range of executive posts working in Asia for the First National City Bank and later, in Montreal, with the Royal Bank of Canada. Some of Mr. Porterfield's experience includes policy formulation for international planning and direction, socio-political assessment, political risk determination and development economics. He is a member of the Board and the Finance Committee, Canadian Centre for Arms Control and Disarmament, Ottawa.

DEPARTMENT OF MARKETING

Jerry Rosenblatt, Assistant Professor

Jerry Rosenblatt holds a B.A. (Political Science) from McGill University in Montreal, and obtained his M.B.A. and Ph.D. at Concordia University. Prior to joining our university, he was Visiting Assistant Professor of Marketing at McGill University. His research interests include consumer behavior and marketing research. His teaching interests are similarly Consumer Behavior, Marketing Research, Marketing Theory and Marketing Management. He has published articles in the Journal of Economic Psychology, Advances in Consumer Research, Marketing, AMA Proceedings, and SMA Proceedings. He has also won several awards including the Summer Doctoral Fellowship (competitive), the Seagram/Bronfman Business Doctoral Fellowship, and the 1984 Administrative Sciences Association of Canada Best Doctoral Student Paper Award.

DEPARTMENT OF QUANTITATIVE METHODS

David Scott, Assistant Professor

David Scott holds a B.A. in Psychology from Kalamazoo College (Michigan), a M.A. in Psychology from Simon Fraser University, a M.Sc. in Statistics from Stanford University and a Ph.D. in Engineering and Public Policy from Carnegie-Mellon University. Prior to joining the Commerce faculty, Dr. Scott worked as a consultant to public transport agencies on routing and scheduling problems. His current research interests include routing and scheduling in transportation and problems of scaling in the behavioral sciences.

Pierre Balthazard, Sessional Lecturer

Pierre A. Balthazard obtained his B.Sc. from McGill University where he continued his studies part-time in the MBA programme. For the past 3 years he has held a Faculty of Management position at McGill, teaching in the M.I.S. area. He also managed the computer resources of the faculty through its main facility: the Sandiford Computing Facility. Other endeavors include consulting in information systems and entrepreneurship. Current interests include structured design of business systems and inventory control applications. Future studies in the area are expected.

Cory Boon, Sessional Lecturer

Cory Boon obtained her B.Sc. in Microbiology and Immunology from McGill University and her MBA from Concordia University, where her studies concentrated in the areas of finance and quantitative methods. Teaching interests include statistics, data processing and future studies in the use of statistics in marketing are a possibility.

Elias El Khalil, Sessional Lecturer

Elias El Khalil obtained his B.Sc. in Electrical Engineering and his M.Sc. in Systems Sciences both from Ottawa University, he worked in project management and cost analysis before joining Concordia University. His research interests focus on mathematical modelling and optimization, his teaching interests are in the area of operations research and statistics.

Reappointed for 1985-86 to the Committee on Education, Academy of Accounting Historians.

Appointed to the Screening Subcommittee of the Notable contribution to Accounting Literature Committee of the American Accounting Association, 1985-86.

J.D. BLAZOUSKE, Professor and Chairman, Department of Accountancy

Professor Blazouske has recently been named the Canadian representative on the Education Committee of the International Federation of Accountants, a world-wide professional accounting organization.

A.I. BRODT, Associate Professor, Department of Finance

Paper Presentation

"Management of Foreign Exchange Risk and International Cash Management," the Symposium on Cash, Treasury and Working Capital Management in Montreal, July 8-10, 1985.

H. DAUDERIS, Associate Professor, Department of Accountancy (on sabbatical)

On Monday, August 17, 1985, Holt, Rinehart and Winston of Canada author Henry Dauderis was honored on the occasion of his selling over 100,000 copies of his text, "Basic Financial Accounting". In a presentation during the American Accounting Association Meeting in Reno, Nevada, Professor Dauderis was presented with a leather bound copy of his most recent edition.

Among those attending the presentation were J.D. Blazouske, Chairman of the Department of Accounting at Concordia; Len Brooks, University of Toronto; Michael Gibbins, University of Alberta; Stephen Spector, CGA Canada; Milou Erikson, Society of Management Accountants; Wai P. Lam, University of Windsor; Ike Reynolds of the University of North Carolina, and Doug Hillman of Drake University.

Professor Dauderis has been a Holt Author Since 1975 and has authored three editions; his next text is slated for 1986 publication.

JOHN DOUKAS, Assistant Professor, Department of Finance

Articles Accepted for Publication

"A Model for International Credit Determination: Empirical Evidence from U.S. and Japan," Journal of Banking and Finance, March 1986 (with A. Jalilvand).

Presentations

"Sovereign Risk and International Lending Interactions," American Economic Association (AEA) Annual Meeting, New York, December 28-30, 1985 (with A. Jalilvand).

"Perceived Risk of Default and Banks' International Lending Decisions," American Finance Association (AFA) Annual Meeting, New York, December 28-30, 1985 (with A. Jalilvand).

"Perceived Risk of Default and the Pattern of U.S. Banks' International Lending," North American Economics and Finance Association (NAEFA) Annual Meeting, New York, December 28-30, 1985 (with A. Jalilvand).

Other Activities

Discussant of the paper entitled "Designing the Most Tax Efficient Optimal Redemption Price Schedule for a Corporate Bond," by J. Finnerty, at the 15th Financial Management Association annual meeting, Denver, U.S., October 1985.

H.A. EISELT, Associate Professor, Department of Quantitative Methods

Articles in Journals

"Computational Experience with External Pivoting" with (C.L. Sandblom and R. DeMarr), COAL Newsletter, No., 12, 1985, pp. 16-20.

Articles in Proceedings

"Location Problems in Trees with Minimax Objective - Part I," Proceedings of the ASAC, vol. 6, part 2, Montreal, 1985, pp. 1-12.

"Location Problems in Trees with Minimax Objective - Part II," Proceedings of the ASAC, vol. 6, part 2, Montreal, 1985, pp. 13-29.

"On the Location of a New Service Facility in an Urban Area" (with G. Pederzoli and C.L. Sandblom), Proceedings of the ASAC, Real Estate Division, Montreal 1985.

Articles Accepted for Publication

"External Pivoting in the Primal Simplex Algorithm" (with C.L. Sandblom), accepted by Statistica Neerlandica, May 1985.

"On Estimating Optimal Bases for Linear Programs" (with C. L. Sandblom), accepted by Journal of Information and Optimization Sciences, May 1985.

"A Note on P-Center Problems in the Plane" (with G. Charlesworth), accepted by Transportation Science, June 1985.

Articles Submitted for Publication

"Discrete-Time Optimal Control of an Economic System Using Different Objective Functions" (with C.L. Sandblom and K.O. Jörnsten).

"A Location Problem with Minimax Objective," June 1985.

"Theorems on Minimax Locations in Trees," July 1985.

"On the Graphical Representation of Some Pivoting Methods" (with G. Pederzoli and C.L. Sandblom), September 1985.

Conference Presentations

"A Minimax Location Problem in Graphs," presented at the Optimization Days, Montreal, 1985.

"Experiments with External Pivoting", presented at the Optimization Days, Montreal, 1985.

"A Location Problem Minimax Objective," presented at the 11th Workshop on Graphtheoretic Concepts in Computer Science WG85, Würzburg, West Germany, 1985.

"Integer Maximin Knapsack Problems," presented at the School on Combinatorial Optimization, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, 1985.

Other Activities

Session Chairman at Optimization Days, Montreal, 1985.

Referee for CJAS, INFOR and Computers and Operations Research.

2nd Installment of NSERC grant.

ALI FARHOOMAND, Assistant Professor, Department of Quantitative Methods

Publication

"The Feasibility of Computers in Small Business Environment," American Journal of Small Business, Vol. IX, No. IV, 1985 (with G. Hrycyk).

Paper Presentations

"The Organizational Impacts of Personal Computing," The second Annual Canadian Conference on Personal Computing in Business, Toronto, September 30 - October 1.

"Microcomputers in Dairy Farming: The Resulting Changes in Productivity," American Institute for Decision Sciences 17th Annual Conference, Las Vegas, November 11-13, (with T. Caza).

Other Activities

Organizer and Co-chairman of the Second Annual Canadian Conference on Personal Computing in Business, promoted by CCMS in cooperation with Teleglobe Canada, Toronto, September 30 - October 1.

S.K. GOYAL, Professor Department of Quantitative Methods

THE EXECUTIVE MBA PROGRAM

Concordia's new Executive MBA Program was officially launched on Saturday, September 7, 1985, with a day-long orientation session for the participating executives followed by a dinner for them and their spouses. The program for the initial group will continue during the next four regular semesters on alternate Fridays and Saturdays.

The initial class, composed of 32 executives, represents a broad cross-section of experience. Ages range from 29 to 55 with a mean of 39 and the group includes one M.D., one Ph.D., five with previous master's degrees, and two C.A.'s. Three are presidents of their firms while others bring extensive senior management backgrounds from all functional areas of business.

The eleven faculty members who are teaching in the program are all members of the EMBA Committee which reports to the Graduate Studies Committee through its Chairman, Cleve Patterson and Program Director, Naim Mahlab. The Committee has been meeting regularly for about two years in order to put together a high-quality closely integrated program. Faculty who are teaching in the first year are Dale Doreen, Charles Drainin, Ron McTavish, Gary Johns, Steve Appelbaum, Alan Hochstein and Cleve Patterson. Many top executives from industry are also participating as guest lecturers.

The Concordia EMBA Program is the third to be launched in Canada although such programs are common in the U.S. Most programs, like Concordia's, require corporate sponsorship and commitment as well as that of the student and are designed to meet the needs of middle and senior managers in mid-career who wish to obtain an MBA degree within two years while continuing to hold a full-time position. Executives in the program take all courses and move through as a group learning as much from each other as from the faculty. This also permits the course offerings to be closely integrated.

Recruiting has already begun for next year's incoming class. Further information can be obtained from Naim Mahlab (848-2993).

THE CENTRE FOR SMALL BUSINESS AND ENTREPRENEURIAL STUDIES

The Small Business Consulting Bureau has now completed its second successful year of operation. Working closely with Rob Dainow, the Bureau's activities covered an increasing number of clients and provided valuable experience to the senior student consultants.

Two activities which will be a further step in keeping CSB&ES in the eye are scheduled for this fall. The first, in conjunction with the Montreal Board of Trade, will be the workshop on "Starting a Business in Montreal," Thursday, October 24, 7:00 p.m., Loyola Campus and Saturday, October 26, 9:00 a.m., Downtown Campus. This is a repeat of a very successful program conducted two years ago. The second is a conference, "Excellence in Entrepreneurship: Building a Quality Company," scheduled for Saturday, November 16. The format will feature three theme speakers and a series of ten workshops each moderated by senior executives from a wide range of companies.

CONCORDIA SMALL BUSINESS CONSULTING BUREAU

The Concordia Small Business Consulting Bureau has successfully completed its second summer of full-time operations. The bureau continues to operate on a part-time basis during the fall and winter terms linking students, through their courses, with projects appropriate to their studies. The student consultants provide high quality services at a reasonable cost to small and medium sized businesses in the Montreal area. This has enhanced the relationship between Concordia's M.B.A. students and the business community.

The students involved have not only gained practical experience but have also benefitted from the opportunity to implement theoretical concepts in real working situations. These students are well prepared to deal with the challenges of their prospective business endeavors.

DEPARTMENT OF ACCOUNTANCY FIRST ANNUAL SUMMER SCHOOL IN CHARTERED ACCOUNTANCY

The first annual Summer School in Chartered Accountancy was introduced on the Loyola Campus August 12-30. This school represents the graduating course for the Graduate Diploma in Accountancy and it was designed specifically to prepare students for the Uniform Final Examination in Chartered Accountancy held in September 1985. The Director of the school, R.A. Long, Professor of Accountancy, reports that 40 students attended. The majority of these students were completing the Diploma program but several students received their accounting education from other universities in Ontario and Québec. Evaluations submitted both by students and by faculty indicate that the first school was a success academically. The students were particularly satisfied with the course material; the comfortable academic environment; the professional administration of the school; and, most importantly, the quality of the faculty. This faculty represented a balanced team of experienced instructors, including four professors from Concordia's Department of Accountancy; four professors from the Universities of Toronto and Manitoba and York and Dalhousie Universities; and three professional educators from national C.A. firms. All faculty members are Chartered Accountants, including three who have been honored with the "FCA" designation.

COMPUTER CORNER

by F. Vodopivec

Introduction

First of all a hearty welcome to new faculty members and staff and a brief introduction to what this "corner" is all about. These articles try to get faculty-relevant computer news to you. My office is at GM 500-7 and the phone number is 2709 if you have any computer-related questions.

For Newcomers

The Faculty of Commerce and Administration has three microcomputer labs which are for use by faculty, Ph.D. students and research assistants. There are two in the GM building and one in the CL building on the Loyola campus. All of the labs have PC's and printers and also a hookup to the CYBER (the university mainframe computer). Hours of operation are 9:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. Monday to Friday and the second floor lab in the GM building is also open from 6:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. Monday to Friday. For more information about the labs please give me a call or drop by.

Computer Showroom

The Computer Centre has opened up as of September 26, 1985 a computer showroom. This has been set-up to allow faculty, staff and full-time students to buy their own computers at very attractive prices. Of the models and prices I have seen as of September 27, 1985, it appears the Olivetti models are very attractively priced. For more information phone K. Shebath at 7623.

HP Laserjet Printer

We have purchased a Hewlett-Packard LaserJet printer for the computer labs as a letter quality printing alternative to the daisywheel printers. The main advantages to the LaserJet are its quietness and equation capability. If you are interested in getting more information please drop by.

Equations and Word Processing

A lot of people are unaware that WordPerfect is quite capable of producing equations in documents. The limitations are more often with the printer than anything else. For more information see me. If there is enough demand we will write a short tutorial on the subject.

Cass PC

Cass now has a PC running WordPerfect. For those of you using WordPerfect already, this allows you to make corrections to your work before it gets printed on the daisywheel printer which will result in faster turnaround for your documents. For more information contact Laurie St. John at 2712.

Up Update

WordPerfect has been updated to version 4.1. Some of the new features include a thesaurus and the ability to scan files without retrieving them. See me for updates.

Seminars

We are planning a seminar called "Are you getting the most out of your PC?" It would be a problem solving seminar covering problems and solutions that you might have. Please contact me if interested.

AIESEC - CONCORDIA

Daniela LaRicca
Public Relations Coordinator

This year at AIESEC - Concordia, we are very enthusiastic in setting up a variety of activities. We have planned numerous projects such as a business luncheon and seminars to bring students and business people together.

So far this year, we have had a large response in recruiting new members. At recruitment Drive, on September 17, 18, 19, many students showed interest and curiosity about our association. We have acquired 62 new members and only with their support and active involvement, will AIESEC Concordia achieve its goals as well as continue to improve and expand in future years.

AIESEC recently presented its 5th Annual Career Day '85 on September 24. Students in all faculties had the opportunity to meet representatives from such companies as Bell Canada, General Motors, Proctor & Gamble, etc. Many compliments were made by students and the business representatives. Career Day was a success!

As you know, 1985 has been designated International Youth Year by the United Nations. Youth organizations in participating countries are actively involved in promoting IYY. Since the theme is focused on "Participation, Development, Peace", AIESEC has decided to sponsor a foster child. The sex, age and country of the child has not been determined as of yet and suggestions are being considered. This will help a needy child throughout his life until the age of 18.

A Regional Congress will be held in St. Jovite October 11-14. This weekend is a chance for members of universities across Quebec to increase knowledge of other local offices.

The National Congress will be held in Toronto in January. There will be approximately 400 delegates of AIESEC from across Canada. The conferences being held offer much experience and a stimulating exchange of ideas. Also, the president of AIESEC National for the year of 1985-86 will be elected. Our president, Benoit Pelland, will be running for this position and we hope he will achieve his goal.

Throughout the year, we will be holding two student workshops. This semester, in October, the subject of the seminar will be on "Money Management". These will be held for all commerce students to attend and the dates and time will be further specified.

We will once again hold a 'Dream Auction' in February. This event will help raise funds for AIESEC by auctioning off a variety of items to students (e.g., ski tickets, clothes, meals...).

Other special events underway are the corporate breakfast, alumni brunch, a study tour and many more.

Thank you and we will keep you informed.

RESEARCH AND PH.D. PROGRAM

Ph.D. Program

The Ph.D. Program has admitted two new students this year. Their names and fields of concentration are:

François Grenier

Finance

Jennifer Thomas

Quantitative Methods

We wish them both every success.

With the graduation of Barbara Austin-Wright and Jerry Rosenblatt there are now eighteen students in the program. A reception for all the students in the program was held on September 20, 1985.

Visiting Speaker Series

Our Visiting Speakers' Series (1985-86) got off to a good start on Friday, September 20. These lectures will normally take place on Fridays between 2:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. Each department has a Visiting Speaker representative and Faculty members wishing to suggest speakers should contact their representative. Professor Abolhassan Jalilvand from the Finance Department is the Coordinator of the series. Any further information can be obtained from him.

Working Paper Series

Our Working Paper Series, Coordinated by Professor V.V. Baba from the Management Department is once again in full operation. Submissions for the series should be made to Professor Baba. Listed below are our current Working Papers. If you would like a copy, they are available in the Research and Ph.D. Office.

1986 CONCORDIA M.B.A. CASE COMPETITION

The fifth Annual Concordia M.B.A. Case Competition has been scheduled to run from Wednesday, January 23 to Saturday, January 25, 1986.

The Competition involves teams from top M.B.A. schools across Canada who participate in four rounds of oral and/or written presentation. The teams are evaluated by panels of senior corporate executives.

From Concordia's perspective, the Competition serves not only to promote its image as an important M.B.A. school, but it also allows members of the business community to increase their familiarity with Concordia's program and its future graduates, as well as giving Concordia students the opportunity to interact with students of other M.B.A. schools.

The organizers for the 1986 Concordia MBACC are Isabel Pappe and Mary Janine Thomson. Their office is located in Room GM 218-01, telephone number 848-2736. They would be happy to answer the questions you may have in connection with the 1986 Case Competition. Also, they would greatly appreciate any and all assistance you may offer them in making this event a success.

M.B.A. PROGRAM

The academic year of 1984-85 has been an extremely active year for the MBA Program with many initiatives demonstrated at the MBA Committee level, in the MBA office, and with the Commerce Graduate Students' Association. These will be carried through in the coming year.

The MBA Committee has implemented many changes in the regulations of the MBA program which aim to improve the quality and strength of our program. Most notable are: the final withdrawal date advanced by four weeks, adopted at the university level for all graduate programs; minimum course load of 4 for full-time students; and a quality control of 3.00 GPA for all students in the program. Following the changes in regulations, an indepth review of the curriculum has taken place from an external appraisal, the BGS appraisal and the MBA Committee Task Force. A response to the BGS appraisal will be prepared for submission at the end of October and in depth curriculum planning will be underway this year. Many thanks extended to our Chairman, Frank Sbrocchi and our committee members: K. Buyukkurt, J. Tomberlin, V. Baba, and J. Doukas and welcome to the new members C. Patterson and P. Pitsiladis.

Admissions to the program have increased 20%. This, in hand with an increasing standard in the quality of admissions has reduced the number of students admitted without work experience and particularly those coming directly from a Commerce Degree. The profile of new students is approximately 45% Arts Degree, 20% Commerce Degree, 25% Engineering and Science Degree and 10% other.

Feedback to the MBA office would indicate that the individualized service that is provided to applicants through interviews and the monthly information sessions attended regularly by over 30 - 40 applicants, attract students to our program and substantiate the Faculty's accessibility to its student population. Orientation Days, which are now in their second year, further reinforce the student's perception of the personal interest demonstrated by our faculty. This year we held a full day orientation with over half of our incoming class attending and which closed with an evening dinner, well attended by MBA faculty members. The success of these days is due to the interest and commitment of the members of the planning group who have worked with the Administrative Director to develop and offer these days. Many thanks to K. Argheyd, V. Baba, C. Patterson, B. Taylor, F. Sbrocchi, B. Ibrahim, I. Devine. We will be inviting other members to participate for this coming year.

The response from the Faculty to the Business Research project has been outstanding this year and last year. This year we have 112 students linked up with professors, last year 116. This further demonstrates the faculty's involvement with the MBA Program and their support is appreciated.

Over the past year, we have had outstanding achievements by our students in acquiring scholarships, some of which are a national competition. Congratulations to all students:

We have also been granted a new award - the Bessie Schulick Fellowship for Entrepreneurship for $3000.00, which this year will be granted to Neil Abbott.

In the exchange program, we now have 7 full-time Chinese students and 2 CERAM students. Their participation in our program provides an added dimension to the classroom experience.

The MBA office was successful in obtaining grants from the Summer Challenge '85 Employment Program with Canada Manpower to the amount of over $10,000 for the faculty. Two projects were specifically for the MBA program to develop an audio visual promotional tape for the Professional MBA and to develop tutorial services for MBA students. The promotional tape is nearly completed and will be used at the information sessions. Deborah Day and Kevin Spreekmeester, from the Communications Department should be commended for their initiative and imagination. The collaboration of the many members of the faculty involved in this production is also greatly appreciated.

The Tutorial Service's original goal was to set up tutorial services for students requiring assistance in MBA core courses. However, the service has extended its function into developing and assuming the responsibility and coordination of the workshops to further assist students in the program.

The Tutorial Service has involved a compilation of course outlines, old exams, additional references and articles and cases for all Part I courses. It has also involved the recruitment of students and professors willing to participate in the service. The quality of tutoring is ensured by allowing only 'A' students to tutor a course and by the close collaboration of the faculty member teaching the course. Up to now, 23 pupils are being serviced and there are 23 student tutors available. The tutorial service also compiled a MBA library access guide, which provides a summary on the library facilities and on business research. To date, 105 copies have been sold at a minimal cost of $4.00.

The students developed and coordinated introductory computer access workshops, to provide MBA students with information on how to access Concordia's network, basic fundamentals, Lotus 123 and Wordperfect. Over 100 students participated. The workshop was offered in collaboration with Continuing Education who provided the facilities. Thanks go to Don Bulua and Alan Barabas, the MBA students who were the workshop leaders. All of this creative activity is the result of two MBA students' commitment and initiative - Gary Yentin and Luc Flynn. We hope that this service will continue and become an integral part of the MBA Program.

The Job Hunting Workshops offered by the Guidance Services for MBA students, have known unprecedented success with over 60 students registered. Group leaders Mary Scott and Priscilla Kredl's continued commitment to our students is greatly appreciated.

The Commerce Graduate Students' Association continues to offer much support to the MBA office. The members of the Executive and their volunteers actively assisted in the fall '85 in-person registration and are assuming full responsibility for the production of the Profile Book, including recruitment, the job hunting workshops and the mailing to over 1,000 companies across Canada.

Alan Barabas, Alison Toms, Mike Abbass, Vince Cardello, Elaine Ianora, Marie Lafleur and Karen Koury are providing an important leadership function in the C.G.S.A. Their involvement in Orientation Days, Information Sessions and all other activities is a valuable contribution.

The placement issue of MBA Graduates is being addressed by the Administrative Director's involvement on the Quebec board of the University College Placement Association and the creation of the MBA Chapter of the Alumni Association which will have its opening activity on November 7, 1985.

In closing, none of this could be achieved without the tremendous commitment of the MBA office staff, Madeleine Davoudi, Pat Garneau-Pejham, Elena Marsillo and Lyne Renaud. Many thanks to them from all of us and our students. We look forward to a new year.
